Spatial Data as Ice Cream

Different Strokes for Different Folks

- They just like to go around and map things (adding map data like roads, places, etc)
- They like/need reliable data (validating map data)
- They need to use the data
- They like to hang-out with like-minded people

The Theory

- Less data outside NCR because people don't see how crowd mapping meets their needs
- Recognising different groups' motives will help us pick right tools and approach for each group
- People whose needs are met through crowd mapping will recruit friends and colleagues
- They will produce more data outside NCR

The Expectation

- Start with who, what we have
- Learn as we go along
- Prepare for surprises
- Take advantage of networks
- Influence the future (instead of trying to predict it)
